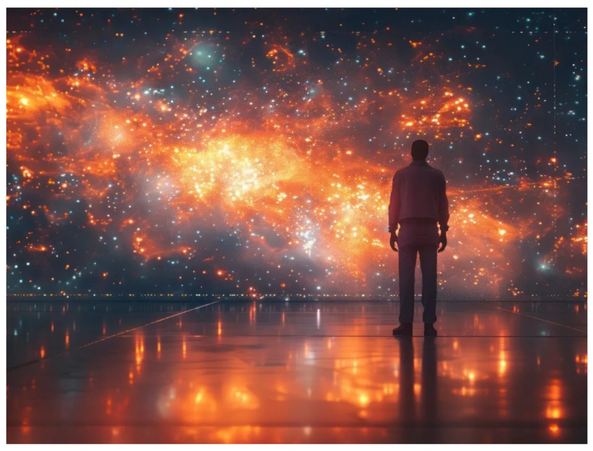
CRITICAL POINTS



Existence

Take the time to meditate on the simple reality of your existence. Look in the mirror and examine your body form. Your head, torso, arms, hands, fingers, legs, feet and toes. Ponder how they all work in concert and without much thought. Now visualize all your internal organs and how they work as a symphony. Think about your circulatory system. Now look back at your head and give deep thought to the brain that operates all these parts. What an amazing design. And you had absolutely NOTHING to do with it! It was done by a Being a whole lot more complex than you are. We must continually appreciate how fascinating the human body is constructed and who is responsible for its creation. And then begin to ponder about the existence of your soul which is separate from your body.

Absolute Authority

The Creator who established the heavens and the earth and all that is in them has provided humans with a Law Code. No different if one breaks a law created by humans and recieves a consequence, so will all humans be judged by the Creator at the end of the known world. It is His world and His rules, not mankinds nor yours.

Human Authority

Humans are born into a world that has multiple layers of authority. Those in authority make decisions based on their interests. This ranges from parents to differing levels of government. At any given point in history, the authority's influence created a worldview in the child's mind or in other words, your ideology. The Creator possesses absolute authority over all His creation. Examining the sum total of your thoughts will provide insight into how you perceive the purpose of your existence and whether you honor and fear the Creator.

Human Nature

Humans are wired to bring pleasure to their lives. History demonstrates that human behavior has a range of impact, both good and not so good, from the individual to the collective depending on the level of authority that has existed at any point in human history. Law codes are created to limit or expand human behavior. These law codes have constantly changed from culture to culture throughout recorded history. The Creator's Law Code was given to humanity so that we can understand His expectations of us, both as an individual and for the collective throughout every generation until the Creator restores the earth and makes everything new again without all the suff.

Cognition

We are nothing more than the sum total of our thoughts. Our culture has deeply influenced our thoughts at the sub-conscious level. We must reflect on our past and analyze the sources of the information that rattles around in our minds. From a law code one will build a culture. From the culture we will live out a lifestyle. Our lifestyle is birthed from our thoughts. We must begin bringing in new information through the Creator's Law Code in order to change the way we live life. In other words, be born again.

Ignorance

It is critical to understand how we are ignorant of human history. The only way to measure our ignorance is by studying. It is through this process we begin to realize how much we really don't know or even understand. The history of the Jewish people is the most important story which to focus on, as it is the Creator's story. It is through the long-term historical cause and effect of what has happened to the Jewish people that one can perceive that the Creator is going to fulfill His promise to those that fail to obey His Law Code. Make sure you document your journey.

Loyalty

From the very beginning the Creator established the "Two Master Model". One is only capable of being loyal to one or the other. To be loyal to the Creator is to obey and teach His Law Code. The righteous men of old, the recorded prophets and the Son of Man were all loyal to the Creator's Law Code.

Choice

Every day we make choices. One must begin to realize that our days are numbered and each day is a day to learn more about the choices we make and if those choices are in line with the will of the Creator.
